DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 3 and 19 are objected to because of the following informalities:
 - a. Claim 3 should be dependent on claim 2.
 - b. Claim 19 should be dependent on claim 18.Appropriate correction is required.
2. In the following rejections, claim 3 is assumed to be dependent on claim 2 and claim 19 is assumed to be dependent on claim 18 (confirmed via phone with Ken Cool on 11/1/06).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1, 9, 14, 15-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US application 2004/0002323, in view of US patents 6,590,528, 4,531,089 and 6,308,155. '323 shows a wireless receiver receiving a radio frequency signal, down-converted and processed into in-phase and quadrature signals (figure 1, element 10), and a method of automatic gain control including variable gain amplifiers (elements 51 a,b) and feedback control signals based on in-phase and quadrature mismatch (figure 1, element 40). While '323 does not show locally generated control signals using detection and digitizing, '089 shows these features (figure 4, element 3, 7, 11, 5 and 6). While the ADC in '089 is placed prior to power detection, such an arrangement can be reversed to suit design, see '528 (figure 1, elements 24 and 28). It would have been obvious to one ordinarily skilled in the art to incorporate power detection in the system of '323 to account for both I-Q mismatch as well as power control. Further, while above references do not show cascading AGC stages, such a feature is known in the art, and it would have been obvious to one ordinarily skilled in the art to use multiple AGC units to "provide better gain normalization and onset enhancement." (see '155, column 6, lines 57-67).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-8, 10-13 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
